

UTAH MINERS CALL STRIKE OFF

Telegrams From John L. Lewis
Relieves 4,500 From Obey-ing Walk-Out Order.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 31.—The strike of Utah soft coal miners scheduled for midnight tonight was delayed off in a telegram received here today by John M. McLennan, Utah's state representative of the United Mine Workers of America, from John L. Lewis, president of the federation. Approximately 4,500 miners in his state would have quit work if the cancellation order had not been received, McLennan said.

The text of Mr. Lewis' message follows:

"You are hereby instructed by the international executive board to withhold strike call so far as it affects coal mines in the state of Utah. Please act on receipt of this message."

Many Ohio Miners Quit.
Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 31.—While the official coal strike call does not become operative until midnight, many eastern Ohio miners quit work and took their tools today.

At Bellaire, O., more than 500 men quit work this morning, and reports from St. Clairsville said 100 or more had left the mine in that vicinity. Reports were received from other places indicating similar action, but the majority of the men would remain in their places until 6 o'clock this afternoon.

No Action to Be Taken

At Present Against Lewis

Indianapolis, Oct. 31.—Announcement was made in federal court here this afternoon that a hearing on a permanent injunction, restraining officials of the United Mine Workers of America from issuing final orders for a general walk-out of bituminous coal miners throughout the United States, will be held in federal court here Nov. 2. A restraining order against the miners' officials was issued here this morning by Federal Judge A. B. Anderson and an announcement was made at that time that a hearing on a temporary injunction would be held Nov. 2, and on a permanent injunction at a later date.

Department of Justice agents and other government officials here read the statement of John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers, condemning the action of the court in issuing the restraining order, but declined to comment on it, other than to state that no action would be taken against Lewis, at least not at this time.

GOT THE SHIP'S GOAT

Rodin led him up to a great, formless lump of modeling clay.
"There you are," he said. "There's your group."
"That?" spluttered the banker. "That lump?"
"Certainly," said Rodin. "That's the rock."
The banker gave a sneering laugh.
"But where is Asia?" he said.
"Under the rock, of course—crushed," answered Rodin.
The banker laughed again.
"Oh, indeed. But Polyphemus?"
"Polyphemus?" said Rodin. "Do you suppose he'd linger round here after committing such a deed as that?"

REFRESHED BY GOOD REST

President Wilson Continues to Show Marked Improvement.
Washington, Oct. 31.—President Wilson passed "a very good night" according to White House officials today. The president went to sleep early last night after a rather eventful day. He was apparently very much refreshed this morning by his unbroken slumber and awakened eager to resume his work.

A Slow Process.
Mrs. Brown was at the back of the church, waiting to have her baby christened. Baby was getting restless, so she beckoned the vergor.
"Is the sermon nearly finished?" she whispered Rodin.

"No, mum," replied the vergor. "It's only on his last night." "He's only on his last night?" "Yes, it takes him half an hour to get through his 'last night'."

"No, mum," was the demure reply. "But there's the 'one more word' and 'I'm done,' and the 'finally,' and the 'in conclusion' to come yet. Don't be impatient."—Tit-Bits (London).

Effective Remedy.
The doctor turned reluctantly out of bed to answer a night bell, and was glad to hear that that was wrong was that Mrs. Mulcahey's new baby would be born today. He handed the excited father a powder and went back to bed.

Next morning he met Mr. Mulcahey and asked him how the baby was. "Fine, sir," beamed the happy man. "That powder of yours did the trick." "Oh, my god of that," said the doctor, "a good night's rest?"

"Sure, an' we don't know," was the reply. "We gave her a dose an' it didn't make a bit of difference, she just went on howling. So the wife and myself took the rest between us and went straight off to sleep, and I heard the swate pat at all."—London Tit-Bits.

Peace and War.
"The peace treaty causes a good deal of hard fighting among our politicians," said George M. Cohan, the New York playwright.

"I understand that the other day a republican and a democratic senator met in the lobby of a hotel."
"Senator," said the republican, "come over here and let's have a friendly discussion on article X of the peace covenant."

"But the democratic senator shook his head."
"I'm sorry, senator," he said, "but you'll have to excuse me till next month."

"Because in a friendly argument on the covenant with Senator Bing last week I dislocated a knuckle of my left hand, and what do I amount to as an argument, senator, without my famous left hook?"—Washington Star.

"THE FARM ISN'T SO SLOW"

Martha Rice (left), who tells her experiences as farm wife, and two of her pals, Claire Perkins (center) and Margary Heining, planning their fun after the day's work.

(By MARTHA RICE.)

Members of American Women's Land Service.

Lodi, Cal., Oct. 31.—One week of farm life such as I have enjoyed with thousands of other California maids in the women's land service will mean any normal girl from the frivolous and just-hold-a-job life of the city. Because—

Life as a farm wife assures you better health and looks.
A better chance to marry the right man.
More honest to goodness fun.
And that about sums up what every girl is seeking and all too many are missing.

I was one of 16,000 San Francisco girls, going around in meaningless and disappointing circles, when I decided to chuck it for a job with the land army. What it has done for me physically is told in the fact that I recently hiked 102 miles in thirty-two walking hours, and would do it all over again with pleasure.

Together with the other girls in our camp of the A. W. L. S. I have thrown away the rouge pot and have acquired nature's own brand of red and tan.

The mania for swell clothes has left me for good. A pair of silk stockings doesn't enter into my reckoning any more. I'm wearing a pair of my dad's socks now, without either a sense of shame or of being cheated.

Eat and sleep—Oh, girls, I'm off to pleasant dreams as soon as I hit the hay in the old straw tick, out under the stars. A cold shower in the morning. And meals that taste right because they're earned with the honest sweat of the well known brow.

There isn't much loafing. It's work, of course, but the kind that gives you a sense of being properly re-under a leader, riding to adjoining warded for your effort. It builds up, rather than pulls down. And it doesn't leave you morose and "all in" at the end of the day.

For three months I have been making 35 cents an hour picking and packing fruit. Now we're going to tackle pumpkins for Thanksgiving dinner, and husk corn and milk and everything. Board—real board—and sleeping accommodations cost us $1.15 a day.

Boys, "fellars"—bless your heart, yes! Plenty of 'em. The best in the world. They may occasionally be a little "slower" than the guys that we used to go to dances with on Saturday nights, but it's a fine "slowness" that beats "mood" all hollow. And they stumble all over themselves and one another to give you a dandy time.

We work out of camp in squads with a leader, riding to adjoining
